Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors (e.g. "an extension in diameter" in claim 18 line 2).

Would suggest that in claim 14 line 2 "the filters exhibit different permeabilities" should be --each of the filters exhibit a different permeability--.

Would suggest that in claim 23 line 2 "and in that filter" should be --wherein the annular filter--.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by either German 19,537,660 (filter 15 in adaptor 12); Endou (filter 28, 29 in adaptor 34); Ramage et al (filter 106, 108 in adaptor 70).

Conclusion

Claims 14-25 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action (i.e. idiomatic errors) and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Note that the combination of Ramage et al and Endou would result in a brake booster with four filters in an adaptor, two of which are a silencer type filter (Endou, 29,31), having a lower permeability (column 1 line 51-62, of Endou) than that of the two "regular" filters (Endou, 28, 30). Claim 14 would be allowable, since it claims each of the filters has a different permeability.
